WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Secretary Denby today announced that 12 destroyers have been ordered to proceed from Norfolk, Va., to Constantinople to protect American interests. They are, Hatfield, Gilmer, Fox, Kane, Hopkins, Bainbridge, McFarland, Overton, Sturdivant, King, Barry, Goff. The date of departure has not been announced.

(Associated Press.)
LONDON, Sept. 28.—Government circles took a grave view today of the situation in the Dardanelles. The situation was regarded as so critical as to overshadow the revolutionary developments in Greece. The opinion was expressed that there is greater prospect now of fighting between the British and Turkish Nationalists than at any previous time.

(By International News Service.)
LONDON, Sept. 28.—Turkish irregulars have begun to concentrate in Thrace, it was reported from Constantinople today. A dispatch on Wednesday said the Turkish troops were reported to have been landed on the Black Sea coast of Thrace, but this was not confirmed officially.

The British force in Turkey now consists of nearly 30,000 soldiers. In the straits there are six British dreadnaughts, seven battle cruisers and 20 destroyers.

The population of Constantinople is in a high state of excitement. Abdication of the Turkish sultan is believed near.

BRITISH CONCILIATORY.
(International News Service.)
CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 28.—General Sir Charles Harrington, British commander, acting upon instructions from London, has adopted a more conciliatory attitude toward the Turkish Nationalists and indications are that a clash in the Near East can be averted.

General Harrington has sent a note to Mustapha Kemal Pasha suggesting a conference and extending the time in which Turks are to evacuate the neutral zone.

Court Insists On Beer-Wine Vote

(Associated Press.)
COLUMBUS, Sept. 28.—The Ohio supreme court today frustrated another effort to prevent a vote in the November elections on the constitutional amendment authorizing the sale of light wines and beers by refusing a petition filed by Attorney George Hawke, of Cincinnati, seeking to enjoin the secretary of state from placing the proposal on the ballot.

MILAN, Sept. 28.—Forty persons were reported to have been killed and hundreds wounded in the blowing up of a fortress at Spezia today.

The explosion was accompanied by appalling scenes. All the hospitals for miles around were filled to overflowing.

Santerenzo was badly damaged by explosions of huge stores of gun powder which were set off by fire.

A revised list said a marshal of the Italian army was killed.

N. Y. DEMOCRATS WILL NAME SLATE

(International News Service.)
SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 28.—The 734 delegates comprising the Democratic state convention, went into initial session today with the entire slate of nominees from governor to state engineer shrouded in uncertainty.

After many hours of conferences between the various elements represented in Syracuse, some of which lasted most of the night, the party slate still rested, by common consent this morning, with Charles Murphy, chief of Tammany Hall, whose control of a majority of the delegates, makes him the undisputed dictator of the meeting.

In the absence of any clarifying evidence, the belief prevailed generally that no decision has been reached and that the slate will be determined in the future conferences that will be held before the convention gets down to nominating tomorrow night.

Officials Leave To Deliver Bond Issue

Mayor T. C. Payne and City Treasurer Thomas A. Bowles left Wednesday afternoon for East St. Louis, Ill., where they went to deliver the $200,000 school bonds to the Union Trust Company of that city. It is confidently expected that there will now be no further hitches in this large transaction and that the money will be available at once.

COURT TO ADJOURN.
The Morgan County court which has been in session at Hartselle this week, will adjourn today, having completed the cases on the docket set for this time. The court will recess a week when another term will open at Decatur, the jury having already been drawn for the week of Oct. 9.

Official Charge Is Forty Years Old

(Associated Press.)
RED SPRINGS, N. C., Sept. 28.—Joe Kemp, charged with killing Daniel McNeill here 40 years ago, has been arrested in St. Augustine, Fla., according to advices. Kemp is understood to have waived requisition papers.

COTTON MARKET
(International News Service.)
NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—The cotton market was quite steady early today, first prices being unchanged to 13 points lower. Selling came mostly from Wall street, Japanese interests and the South. It was absorbed by Liverpool and the trade. Hedging pressure increased after the start, however, as the list worked lower until by the end of the first 15 minutes it was generally about 10 to 13 points below yesterday's close.

Revival Service At First Methodist
Grows In Interest

Last night the fifth of the revival services now in progress at the First Methodist Church of Decatur was largely attended, and the visiting evangelist, Rev. S. O. Kimbrough, of Culman, preached from the text: "Be not deceived, God is not mocked, for whatsoever a man sows, that shall he also reap."

The meetings are growing in attendance and interest daily, according to Rev. G. M. Davenport, the pastor, and they are to continue for the balance of this week and possibly throughout next week.

Five accessions to the church were announced, with a number manifesting a deep interest.

Friday night is to be "Public School Night" when a special effort will be made to get the school children out, as well as the general public. The glee club of the Decatur schools will render a number of selections Friday night.

Last night the music was well and enthusiastically rendered, the large choir leading the congregational singing. A duet was sung by Mrs. W. C. Bailey and Miss Ruth Banks with Miss Lucile Bailey at the organ.

Last Night's Session.
In the first place, after taking his text at last evening's service, Rev. Kimbrough told his audience that the loss of the soul involved the death of the individual conscience. He related how while a student, he went with a professor and some students to Toronto, Canada, to visit a noted student-criminal, a Yale graduate, who had murdered his wife and child. Asked if he had always felt as if such a crime was possible from him the learned criminal told his questioners no and sent a message to the people of America never to meddle with, sir—that once crime was as abhorrent to him, as to the best of people, but that he did learn little by little to regard wrong doing with unconcern.

Sin Kills Will Power.
The minister submitted that sin would destroy the strongest will, in a comparatively short time, or render it so weak that it could not be relied on.

Exciting Horse Races.
If the horse races that will be in progress as readers of The Daily get their papers today prove anything like as exciting as those of Wednesday, there will be some tearing of hair and straining of eyes for the winners today, to say nothing of those for Friday afternoon.

A big touch of sympathy came to the crowds in the grandstand and along the 1-2 mile course yesterday afternoon because a woman was racing "Wilber Direct" to sweep all the stakes. The lady driver was Mrs. W. E. Doust and the best time her trotter made was 22 1-2, so she won only one of the four heats of Wednesday.

(By J. E. Blair)
The second day's attendance at the fourteenth annual fair of Limestone County, surpassed that of the opening day by several hundred; and according to Secretary R. H. Walker, the record of attendance at the close of the first day doubled any other first day in the whole history of fairs for the county.

The weather turned out to be ideal and every neighbor who could do so put in an appearance for the day that was officially designated Neighbor's Day.

This morning was passed in comparative quiet to the din of pleasure and excitement of last night and yesterday afternoon. Little was done except visiting and watching after the judges this morning as they passed among the fine herds and individual specimens of thoroughbred cattle.

Not until the last day of the fair on Friday is it expected that the report of the winners of live stock prizes will be made public. At the same time, according to Mr. Walker, the final list of prize winners in all the contests will be made.

The most notable address made at the fair was by Col. E. A. O'Neal, of Florence, chairman of the Farm Bureau of Lauderdale County. Mr. O'Neal told the farmers that what "the Renaissance was to learning in the 15th century, the present movement among the organized farmers would mean to the farming industry."

He said that farmers were "citizens of the world," and he decried the disposition of the present government at Washington to keep hands off in Europe, where business interests could be served by efforts to restore peace and credit among the nations. He declared that the Farm Bureau was back ing Ford's bid for Muscle Shoals to the limit and predicted that the Detroit man would finally win hands down.

INSANITY WILL BE PLEA IN HAMMER MURDER CASE

Associated Press
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 28.—Insanity will be the defense of Mrs. Clara Phillips, charged with beating Mrs. Alberta Meadows, 20-year-old widow, to death with a hammer, it was disclosed when her counsel submitted copies of interrogatories addressed to residents of Texas regarding the alleged lapses of sanity on the part of the defendant.

COURT WILL RULE ON EXHUMATION OF BODY OF MINISTER

(International News Service.)
NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Sept. 28.—Application for permission to exhume the body of Dr. Edward Wheeler Hall, slain rector of the Church of St. John the Evangelist, will be made to the supreme court of King's county, New York, it was announced today by Prosecutor Beckman. Dr. Hall was buried in Brooklyn.

No decision has yet been handed down by Justice Parker, of the New Jersey supreme court, on the application filed yesterday for permission to exhume the body of Mrs. Eleanor Mills, choir singer, whose body was found beside that of Dr. Hall. Re-examination of the bodies of Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills is expected to clear up many points now in dispute regarding the tragedy. By checking up on the caliber of the bullets which caused the death wounds, the authorities believe they will be able to establish definitely if the killing was the work of one slayer or two or more.

It was also expected that a painstaking autopsy would aid the authorities in determining whether Dr. Hall was shot from ambush.

Investigators are known to be working on the theory that he was. The belief prevails, however, that Mrs. Mills was shot to death as she stood facing her slayer as all the wounds received by her were fired from the front.

UNION OFFICIALS GIVEN SENTENCES

(International News Service.)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Attorney General Daugherty announced today that the federal court at Albuquerque, N. M., had imposed a sentence of two years in Leavenworth and a fine of $5,000 each upon Walter T. Seyfred, president of the New Mexico Federation of Labor, and Andrew Bruno, another labor leader, convicted on the charge of interfering with railroad trains, the government alleging that a bomb was found in their possession.

(Associated Press.)
ATHENS, Sept. 28.—It is reported that a section of the revolutionary army is imbued with the idea of a republic and that the accession of King George may be accompanied with some difficulty. An impressive pro-Venizelos demonstration occurred last night. The revolutionists have occupied all strategic points in the city.

EX-MINISTER SLAIN
(International News Service.)
LONDON, Sept. 28.—A former minister in the Greek government has been assassinated at Athens, according to a dispatch from that city this afternoon. It gave no details.

(International News Service.)
ATHENS, Sept. 28.—Crown Prince George, of Greece, has accepted the Hellenic throne in succession to his father, former King Constantine, who abdicated as a result of a military and naval revolution, it was announced.

It was rumored that King Constantine had been seized by revolutionaries and imprisoned but this was not confirmed and was not generally credited.

Three generals of the Greek army were chosen to administer the government affairs pending the appointment of a new cabinet.

Negro Is Lynched
By Georgia Mob

(International News Service.)
SANDERSVILLE, Ga., Sept. 28.—Jim Johnston, negro, was lynched near here early today for an assault, alleged to have been committed on a white woman. The negro was being taken from Sandersville to Wrightsville for trial when the automobile bearing him and an escort of officers was stopped and Johnston taken from the car by a mob of 50 persons. The officers were disarmed and Johnston taken to a bridge where he was hanged. He is said to have confessed his guilt.

WE FAVOR ACCEPTANCE OF HENRY FORD'S BID FOR MUSCLE SHOALS.

PROGRESS ALONG RIGHT LINES.

In casting about and reviewing the progress which has been made in this county during the past few years, one cannot help feeling impressed with the great contrast in the matter of transportation and good roads. A few years comparatively ago, there was not a first class road in the county. Even since the advent of the automobile into the country districts, it was formerly the custom among a great many automobile owners, to run their car during the spring and summer, and when winter weather came, the car was placed in the shelter until next spring. Now, the car is in constant use the year round. Practically now every section of the county has some stretch of good road upon which it is possible to operate cars with comparative ease and comfort the entire year.

Just a few years ago the railroads of the county was the only means of transporting commodities, during the rainy season, except in a few instances it was possible to transport as much as two bales of cotton to the wagon. Now it is possible the year round to carry as much as 14 bales of cotton to the wagon in all kinds of weather the year round. Thanks to the hard surfaced roads. Land along the improved highways has increased at a bounding rate, and in every section of the county where the highways abound, there is springing up many nice residences, school houses and churches.

In the black land sections of the county which are of lime formation, during the winter, stock would have all the hair taken off of their legs and girth on account of the lime in the mud. This condition is now remedied in good roads which abound.

The saving to vehicles of every character since good roads were made available in the county, is enough to pay a handsome sum on the roads which have been built, to say nothing of the ease and comfort to those who go on pleasure or business bent.

Each year marks the beginning of better and broader highways in the county. When the present plans, with the amount made available for roads all over the various counties of the state is completed, as Alabamians we can point with pride to the effort made and the many miles of well constructed highways which connect the counties of the state.

Many splendid bridges are also being constructed which add greatly to the appearance all along the way, and make the scenic grandeur of the country more impressive. We are not far from the goal set out to be achieved a few years ago, and we are fast traveling in the right direction.

THE FORD OFFER FOR MUSCLE

SHOALS STILL THE ONLY AVAILABLE ONE.

The announced intention of General Steiner to have the Mayors of Florence, Tusculumbia and Sheffield appoint delegates from the American Legion in Alabama, to go before Congress to urge the acceptance of the Ford bid for Muscle Shoals, revives in the public mind, the long and bitter controversy that has been waged for and against Mr. Ford as the future lease of the government holdings at the Shoals.

It will be regarded as a hopeful sign for the success of the Ford bid, that such a fair method of selection of those delegates to appear before Congress has been decided upon. The opinion is gaining ground that when the country and Congress has a few more sober, second thoughts as to the duty of the federal government to the Ford bid, that, as Col. E. A. O'Neal says the Detroiters "will win in a walk".

Since that day now going on two years when Henry Ford presented his famous offer to develop the water power at the Shoals, no other offer or bid has been made that the American people have considered seriously.

Had the government made a definite proposition to develop power and make fertilizer at Muscle Shoals, the people might have paid it some heed, but the fact is—the government has suggested nothing, and agreed to nothing.

As an indication that none of the bids made by private individuals, were ever taken seriously, the names of those contractors made bids are pretty well forgotten already.

Despite the endless running fire of criticism that has been directed at the Ford bid, it still stands unscathed and unmatched.

And the supporters of Mr. Ford are unfettered and remain as dauntless as ever. Those who have gone into the merits of the proposition submitted by the Detroiters, have become convinced that he has offered a sound proposition; and one that is as safe as humanly speaking, could be made, where so many great risks are necessarily involved. Those who have not had the time or the inclination to examine the Ford bid, have remained content to base their hopes of his success on the business record of Mr. Ford, and on his staunch and enduring personality.

After all is said and done, in business, as in every thing else—it is the man or men behind an enterprise that commends or condemns it before the public. And because Ford has been so tremendously successful (He is now rated as the world's richest man) it should not be taken as a disparagement to any man or corporation that the people at large prefer to place the destiny of Muscle Shoals in his hands for a century or more to come.

The state of Alabama has numbered many great men within her confines. Notable among them, and the one which stands out as time rolls away as one of the greatest statesmen the state ever honored, was John Tyler Morgan. He was peer of any who matched wits with him in the United States senate, and possessed a fund of general information which made him a debater in that body of the state's great men, who could hold his own with any of them. And in possessing these splendid qualifications, he was at all times honest with the constituency which he represented, and they at all times trusted him implicitly. He possessed a mental vision which led out and beyond the blazed trails of the times in which he moved, and this vision caused him to grasp great and perplexing questions with a clearness and certainty, which made him able to press their cause at the bar of public opinion, and acquaint the people of a great nation with every phase of the subject under discussion. He had a vision of the great Panama canal, a channel which after completion made the trip from the new to the Old World shorter by many thousand miles. Even when there was the least prospect of it ever being completed, this man kept that cause ever before the people, bringing to their attention the great benefits to be derived from its completion, and today he is recognized as the moving spirit in furthering the ends which made of it a reality. He had a vision and was not willing to forego it, when enemies assailed it from within and without. And these great efforts and persistency with which they were pursued by him are today the stones in the monument, erected in the minds of a trusting constituency and will survive the wrecks of time. To the people of the south, his seven day and night speech in opposition to the force bill, debating it until adjournment was had, is the crowning capstone. In recognition of these faithful services the people of this state kept him in the senate until called by death.

We have "limited assurance" that the Turk will be kept out of control of the straits of the Dardanelles—yet, very limited assurance.

"The Turk lay dreaming of the hour, when Greece her knee in suppliance bent, should tremble at his power"—said Hallock, the poet. Hal, also said "that last dream was his last"—and right there is where Mr. Hallock just made a mistake.

Members of the optimist society have steadily refused to believe another great war would break out in Europe; but the pessimists are worrying about how the price of wheat and cotton is to be boosted without such a war.

Republican would-be spell-binders are said to be spreading the propaganda that no past Congress has ever accomplished as much for the good of the country as the late one did; Democratic leaders are claiming just the opposite. In the words of a certain rural citizen "they are a lie out somewhere".

Turkey is in the attitude of a bad boy demanding from his parents what he wanted and was going to have.

THE WHIRL.

Life is a funny sort of thing—
A carousel, an aero-swing,
A bump-the-bumps, a whirling mass
Of days gone and to come to pass.
The more it whirls the faster set,
Far faster whirls are coming yet;
From cold-dead days to newborn
Spring.

Life is a funny sort of thing.

We never can force the end;
An enemy may turn a friend;
A friend may become a foe, and so
The fortunes of existing go,
Up hill and down together roll
The proudest and the humblest soul,
And he who sits a throne today
Beggars alms tomorrow by the way.

Life is a funny sort of mess—

A puzzle, hanging on a guess;
A hit-and-miss affair of men
Who come and go, nor come again
And we who live our years of life

On plains or peace or fields of strife,
You, I and all—we must confess,
Life is a funny sort of mess.

WILLIAM FARNUM IN ANOTHER BIG PICTURE AT THE PRINCESS

William Farnum, blue-shirted and ever-ready to fight for the things that mean happiness to others, will open at the Princess Friday in his latest big William Fox production,
"Shackles of Gold," a stirring play based on the splendid drama, "Samson," by Henri Bernstein.

This picture, which tells the story of a man who comes up from the docks, makes a fortune in oil, and marries a woman who hates him, was directed by Herbert Brenon and is said to be another picture in which Farnum thrills with his superb acting. One scene in particular is said to be a continuous thrill. It is that in which the New York Stock Exchange is shown. Here Farnum breaks the market, breaks the enemy, the man who has been trying to steal his wife's love—and incidentally breaks himself in doing it.

Myrta Bonillas, the girl who jumped from an extra to a leading woman in one day, is Farnum's leading woman in "Shackles of Gold."
Others in the cast are Al Loring, Marie Shotwell, Wallace Ray, C. Elliott Griffin and Eileen Cassidy.

STUCKEY TO SPEAK AT STRIKERS' MEET

Taking the Rattle Out of Rattlesnake. In a combat between a diamond rattlesnake and a blue racer, the latter was victorious over his more virulent adversary. During the fight, reports a writer in Science, the racer was badly bitten by the rattler; whereupon the former worked his way to a patch of weeds and bit into the stems, extracting the juice, after which he returned to renew the fray. This peculiar performance was repeated in a short time, when the racer again returned and destroyed the rattlesnake. —Scientific American.

ORR IS CENTER OF UNUSUAL TANGLE

Everett Orr, Albany resident, now on strike, today became the center of an interesting legal clash in connection with law enforcement in the railroad strike here.

Orr now is being held by military authorities, it is stated by them, for federal authorities in connection with an explosion in South Albany earlier in the week.

Last night, upon petition of Orr, to the Morgan County court, Judge W. T. Lowe issued a writ of habeas corpus to test the legality of the detention of the defendant. When Sheriff J. V. May went to military headquarters with the writ, he alleges authorities there ignored the writ.

Captain R. A. Burleson, in command of the troops here, declared today his action was taken following communication with the Adjutant General's office in Montgomery. He said Orr would be turned over to federal authorities, probably early next week. He is being detained in the military camp.

The deceased was well known here, having many friends in Albany and Decatur to whom news of his death will come as a distinct shock.

"THE NIGHT ROSE."

Princess today presents an all-star cast in "The Night Rose," by Leroy Scott.

A list of their names vouches for one of the best acted pictures that has been seen at the Princess in some time. Lon Chaney as a king of the underworld; Betty Schade as his discarded sweetheart; Leatrice Joy, the new object of his affection, who is in love with an innocent henchman, played by Cullen Landis. Other well-known players in the cast are Richard Tucker, John Bowers, Mary Warren and Edythe Chapman.

The climax of the picture takes place in a magnificent ballroom where the underworld czar is about to dance with his new "girl." But in order to get her fiancé out of the way, he has had him shot. Though this turns out not to be fatal, it nerves the girl to the point of appearing at the ball with the intention of taking the gangster's life. How her aim is thwarted but her intention carried out by another, forms one of the most exciting moments in a picture replete with thrills.

All of the incidents in the story are founded on actual happenings that have come to the attention of Leroy Scott, the author, while he was better luck to her today and Friday so say all the race track fans.

Religious Driver Wins Most Of All
Ira Keefe, whose looks corroborated what his words said, was and ever shall be dry and is a member of the Methodist Church; and that since his 10th year he had been in the game jockeyed fair and saved his money. Keefe drove "Palmer De Forrest" in the trotting races and Rena Graham in the pacing races. His mounts cleaned up $2,000 the first day, he said.

The following is the summary of the races as furnished by I. P. Russell, of Stevenson, Ala., who is racing his horses this afternoon:

Record of Money Winners
Pacers, 2:15 Class
Saxon Boy, Barret..... 9 6 1 1
Rena Graham, Ira Keefe 3 1 5 2
Mattie M. Bryant..... 1 3 3 0
Pickaninny Boy, Harris 2 4 2 0
Pacing time 2:14 1-4; 2:17 1-4; and 2:27 1-2.

2:18 Class Trotters
Wilber D., Mrs. Doust 8 1 4 3
Sickless, H. Ball..... 1 9 8 2
Sara Dillon, Tanny..... 3 3 2 0
Palma d'Forrest, I. Keefe 2 2 1 1
Trotting time was around 2:18.

It will be noted that Keefe's horses made more winnings than any of the others. There were 19 entries in all, the largest racing event ever pulled off in this section. While the eight detailed above are spoken of as the money winners, all won something. The 2:27 1-2 had been won by Mr. Russell to have been due to the determination of all the jockeys to hold back until the final dash for the wire, practice not uncommon it is said.

In speaking of the Athens races the following is from Mr. Russell in horsemen's language:

"The 2:15 pace class with 14 starts was a split heat affair and had to go a fourth heat to decide the winner and resulted in a victory for Saxon Boy, owned by the well known Irishman Patrick Poarrit."

"The 2:18 trot was also a split heat, the first being won by the local horseman, Harris Ball, driving Sickless. The second heat was won by Mrs. W. E. Doust, of Collinsville, Ill., the only lady driver ever seen in Athens. The third heat, a very hotly contested affair, resulted in a victory for Palma DeForest, driven by Ira Keefe, of Benton, Ill., who finally won the fourth and deciding heat. The first day's races, taken as a criterion, indicates a period of hard fought racing. Never before have so many fast horses been brought together at Athens, and many of the horses were winners at the Kentucky State Fair and at the Tennessee State Fair. With favorable weather records will likely be broken when the two fast classes for Friday get together."

The well known horseman, R. H. Graham, of Courtland, has racing stock at the fair, and has been winning fine in Tennessee and Kentucky.

Fir Notes Gathered in Passing.
Herbery Hawk, Twin City musician, is playing a clarinet in the fair band, called the Athens Masonic Band.

A. T. Shropshire, of the Twin Cities, long time devotee of fairs and large shows like those of Ringling Brothers, has a confectionery stand at the fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Moles were visitors at the fair, as was B. L. Malone who made a flying trip to Athens yesterday afternoon.

Quite a number of inquiries were made about The Daily and Daily readers who live in the Twin Cities.

R. A. Osborne, formerly of Athens and now a prosperous insurance man of New York City, on leaving Athens for New York said: "Of course we read The Albany-Decatur Daily. We would do without The New York Times first, and we consider it as good a newspaper as there is."

The Taxi Drivers express two ideas with two words: "Fair, 10c."

Hartselle News

The merchants of Hartselle are reporting a satisfactory fall business. The steady stream of cotton which began early in this month is continuing and increasing each week. Many of the farmers who failed to meet the old debts during the past two years on account of the great slump in the price of farm products then, are availing themselves of the opportunity now presented, to pay up all past obligations. The continued good price of cotton is making it possible to meet them. The price of cotton seed jumped on the local market about $10 per ton during the last few days and this will add a very material amount to the proceeds of the cotton. Regular shipments of seed in car lots are now being made.

That he succeeded in this ambition is made evident to all who have seen the picture. There is not an inch of waste film in it, no long scenes where nothing happens. It is zip, bang, a chase continuously.

DOES LAUNDRY WORK AND HOUSEWORK TOO

Surprised to Find Her-self Feeling So Well

Taunton, Mass. — "I used to have pains in my back and legs so badly, with other troubles that women sometimes have, that my doctor ordered me to stay in bed a week in every month. It didn't do me much good, so one day after talking with a friend who took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for about the same troubles I had, I thought I would try it also. I find that I can work in the laundry all through the time and do my housework, too. Last month I was so surprised at myself to be up and around and feeling so good while before I used to feel completely lifeless. I have told some of the girls who work with me and have such troubles to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I tell them how it has helped me. You can use my testimonial for the good of others." — Mrs. BLANCHÉ SILVIA, 69 Grant St., Taunton, Mass.

It's the same story — one friend telling another of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeanne Price

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—A certain Englishman in New York made a simple little gesture of friendship to the people back home and in consequence his apartment in West 56th Street has been turned into a detective agency, foundlings' home and general utility station. He corresponds with a newspaper in Liverpool, and he wrote a note one day to the effect that he would be glad to be of service to his fellow countrymen over here if he could. "There may be some in Liverpool who would like to be put in touch with friends in New York," he wrote and gave his name and address. A deluge of queries followed; never before had he realized the number of lost relatives there are roaming the world. And in a city of

6,000,000, it isn't proving simple to carry out his offer. He did find, however, that one son whose parents had not heard from him in several years, is living in Rochester, has a good job and owns an automobile. That was sufficient to make the parents happy the rest of their lives. "At first it seemed impossible to go on with the thing I had got myself into," he says, "but the letters are too pathetic and too hopeful to let me stop. It doesn't leave me much time for my work, but maybe it's helping somebody."

Wider and wider grows the field from which the motion picture is drawing its writers. It has now invaded the domain of editorial writer and taken one of the biggest of them all. There is undoubtedly no better known editorial writer in the country than Bruce Barton, who has agreed to write a series of motion picture scenarios for immediate production, for the Better Day Pictures Corporation. The first one of the series is completed.

The volunteer stage censorship plan for the New York stage has begun functioning in so far as the committee has just held its first meeting. It is said to be purely a coincidence that the meeting was set for the date which marked the opening of Avery Hopwood's "Why Men Leave Home." It was his play, "The Demi-Virgin," which started all the ruction last season between the producer and Commissioner of Licenses Gilchrist.

Ernest Aimless is a constant theater-goer. They hold the curtain for him on opening nights. People ask him just for the fun of having him along. Yet it would happen that he would get the prize opportunity for attending the shows. Not long ago he answered a blind ad in one of the papers asking for "a young man of good appearance, who was interested in the theatre." His letter secured an appointment and he found an exceedingly comely young woman with red hair, who told him she wished reviews written of all the current attractions. He accepted willingly, and was on the point of asking the amount of pay, when she announced as a mere after thought, "You know one of the conditions of this work is that you attend the theatre with me. Don't be alarmed. It does not carry any social obligation. You meet me at the theatre and bid me good night from there." She did not divulge the use she expected to make of the reviews, yet this fortunate youth is nightly at the theatres with this stunning girl, without so much as having to buy a taxi cab, and getting paid besides. The worst of it is that he seems to take it for granted that he deserves what he is getting. I shall never see a young man spending $6.00 on his best girl for two seats again without bemoaning the unfairness of life.

Clothes for men this coming season are evidently responding to the cry of the restless one in the political meeting who insisted that the speaker talk "louder and funnier." No words other than exactly those would do justice to the new men's styles, I should say after seeing the exposition now being held here. Red, purple and magenta neckwear; Scotch tweeds in patterns that could be discerned through a London fog; sport stockings in which the rainbow runs rival to the checkerboard; plaid skirts in heather shades; those are only a few of the details which thrust themselves upon our eyes. Oh, there is no doubt but what the male peacock is coming back into his own!

Florence Reed is never allowed to get away from emotional roles. It's just as well, too, because not many of our actresses of today, enact them more tragically. In "East of Suez," a play by Somerset Maugham, just opened at the Eltinge, Miss Reed plays the part of a gorgeous Eurasian, who wrecks one or two white men, before she finds herself in the soft, insidious shackles of the Orient, and finally absconds with a Chinaman. The endless problem of the Occident and Orient in actual conflict is not new to the stage, but Mr. Maugham has made it particularly impressive.

It is now said that the greatest volume of traffic in New York meets at the junction of the Grand Concourse, Vanderbilt and Park Avenues. If there is one change in New York for the person who has been absent for some time it is this section. As you walk up a block in 53 on Park Avenue and glance back, you can see a lot of the future New York. Skyscrapers, constructed on the new engineering theory with their receding upper stories, rear up as a nest of towers giving a new home for business. An office building is under construction as far north as Forty-Sixth Street on Park Avenue. Just next door to the beautiful business structures are the palatial cooperative apartment houses, the last word in city residences. For blocks you walk up the street under the shade and protection of their obliging porte-cochere awnings, which flapping in the wind and lighted by the inside magnificence reminds one of the choice boulevard section in Paris or Berlin, yet grander than any. Famous restaurants have moved up there, and the names of Sherry, Pierre, Marguery, and the like, bid you enter to satisfy the inner man. At meal time this section is the fashionable promenade—the photographers have deserted "the Avenue."
